OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF BUREAU

The second paragraph of Article 1 of the Treaty of Commerce between the United States and Mexico, signed at Mexico on July 18, 1911, is as follows:

"The United States of America and Mexico shall have the right to establish in the territory of the other party, under the same conditions as those which obtain in the territory of the first party, such consular, commercial, industrial, and agricultural offices as may be necessary for the exercise of the rights granted by the Treaty."

The right of the United States to establish in the territory of Mexico such consular, commercial, industrial, and agricultural offices as may be necessary for the exercise of the rights granted by the Treaty is hereby acknowledged.

The United States of America, by and through its duly authorized representatives, hereby certifies that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the original of the Treaty of Commerce between the United States and Mexico, signed at Mexico on July 18, 1911, and that the same is now in force and effect.
